

STEPS TAKEN FOR ESTABLISHMENT OF A Y. W. C. A. IN THIS CITY

Miss Farrar Stresses Intangible Benefits to be Derived and Tells Women's Clubs How to Form Promotive Organization Which They Proceed to Do—Mass Meeting Feb. 27.

The movement for a Young Women's Christian Association in Kingston got well under way on Friday afternoon at the meeting of the Y. W. C. A. Committee of the Federation of Women's Clubs, held at St. John's parish house, when Miss Lena Farrar, field secretary of the National Board of the Y. W. C. A., met with the committee.

In her talk, Miss Farrar stated that Miss Julia Capen, also of the National Board, who is scheduled to be the chief speaker at the big mass meeting to be held at the high school auditorium on the evening of February 27th, would also be able to remain in Kingston the 28th, to confer with the organization committee and its sub-committees, if so desired, and could also return to Kingston about April 1st, to remain a week or so to assist in furthering the project.

Miss Farrar then told of the work of the Y. W. C. A. and what it offers to the girls and women of a community, not only in the form of a meeting place, a possible boarding home, gymnasium, swimming pool, cafeteria, etc., but also in the shape of intangible results that really count for even more in the life of a community and the lives of the girls.

Today the educational advantages of the Y. W. C. A. are of a much wider scope than formerly, while the church or religious influence is for the forming of a closer union between those of different Christian denominations and the exerting of a general Christian spirit that will sometimes have a broader reach than that of any church. It brings together for mutual friendliness and better understanding, girls of different industries, businesses, school girls and home girls; forming a sympathetic fellowship that always ends in a common effort for the furthering of the Kingdom of God. The Y. W. C. A. opens up many resources that girls would otherwise never know about, and stimulates the indifferent or inert girl to do bigger and better things than she ever thought of before. Furthermore, it helps girls to make contacts with various sources of helpfulness to them and it remembers resourcefully the girls' love of entertainment and pleasure. These fundamental things which are yet intangible, Miss Farrar counted as the real objective of the Y. W. C. A., with the material features, such as boarding homes, gymnasiums, swimming pools, etc., desirable if possible.

Then Miss Farrar went into the formation of the organization to undertake the establishment and operation of a Y. W. C. A. First there

PHYSICIANS BUSY

Some illness laid to shortage of coal.

There are still a large number of flu cases prevalent in Kingston and all of the physicians are kept busy answering sick calls. It is also said that there are a number of cases of pneumonia in the city. Owing to the shortage of coal many households have been forced to shut off a large part of the house and live in a few rooms this winter, and some believe that this had a tendency to increase the number of cases of illness.

NO PRIORITY ORDERS OR EMBARGO GENERAL GOETHALS IS INFORMED

Federal Fuel Distributor Admits Impotency and Turns Matter Over to Interstate Commerce Commission—Northern New York Coal Famine Continues.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, Feb. 17.—With the people of upper New York state threatening to seize trains carrying American coal into Canada because of the acute fuel shortage, the interstate commerce commission today telegraphed general George W. Goethals that they would not issue any priority orders for the consignment of coal to those districts.

Whether an embargo on anthracite shipments to Canada will be established by the commission is doubtful, however, according to members of the commission. Railroad regulation is the remedy indicated.

F. R. Wadleigh, federal fuel distributor, today received from General George W. Goethals, state fuel administrator in New York, a telegram stating that what New York and New England needed was "coal, not conferences" between Washington officials. Wadleigh said he was powerless to give coal, and turned the telegram over to the interstate commerce commission, notifying Goethals to this effect.

Syracuse, N. Y., Feb. 17.—The coal famine situation upstate remained practically unchanged today, the last 24 hours failing to bring any material relief.

Albany, Feb. 17.—Hundreds of Albany families are being supplied with coal by the sack to keep out the zero weather. So far no actual suffering from the need of coal has been reported.

Glens Falls, N. Y., Feb. 17.—Two carloads of anthracite and one of bituminous received in Glens Falls this morning, and two carloads of anthracite received in Fort Edward, will furnish only scant relief from the fuel famine. In Fort Edward even wood is unobtainable.

Utica, N. Y., Feb. 17.—Several carloads of coal due here for several days but delayed by a recent storm, arrived last night just in time to save the city from its worst fuel famine of the winter.

"HER TEMPORARY HUSBAND" LATE
Upset Schedule of Interurban Railway Causes Company to Miss Train at Albany—Performance at Opera House Tonight.

Missed railroad connections resulting from the storm-tied condition of railroads and trolley cars caused the cancellation of the matinee performance at the Kingston Opera House this afternoon of "Her Temporary Husband," the company not reaching Kingston until too late for the afternoon performance.

The company, with William Courtney as the star, played Friday night at Johnstown. In order to reach Kingston, it was necessary for the members to travel by way of the Fonda, Johnstown & Gloversville interurban railroad to Albany, where the company should have arrived at 9:30 o'clock this morning. The trolley, however, was delayed by the storm and did not reach Albany until 10:05 o'clock, and efforts to have the train held until the company arrived were unsuccessful. Roads were too bad to use automobiles.

The play will be given tonight, however, and the advance sale of seats indicates a good house.

"Her Temporary Husband" is said by Manager Gildersleeve to be one of the best productions ever given in Kingston.

Bee and Cucumber Lore Lessen Tedium of Commission Hearing
Yankee Genius Solved Problem of Winter Cucumbers—Bees Alone Can Determine Sex of Offspring—Testimony On Merwin's Claim Continues.

The celebrated bee case of John B. Merwin of Grand Gorge against the city of New York for the destruction of two hundred colonies of his Italian Bees, and the emancipation of the bees composing one hundred and twenty-five additional colonies by reason of the blasting of the engineers of the New York Board of Water Supply in drilling test holes to ascertain the extent below the surface of the bedrock upon which the Schoharie dam and Shandaken tunnel could be constructed, consumed the time of the Commission composed of Messrs. Kelly, Mayham and Shea this week.

In addition to the matters which appeared at the first hearing of the claim and then were published in The Freeman, this week's hearing developed many other interesting facts regarding bees, and the manner of keeping them, and the great productiveness of honey bees having a suitable range from which to collect honey. As stated in The Freeman, Mr. Merwin's colony is in the center of a wild thyme growth which yields an abundant supply of the finest honey known to commerce. Among the witnesses called was Mr. Lesser, a celebrated apiarist of Oneonta county, and Mr. Clapp, one of the engineers of the Board of Water Supply. Mr. Lesser's business solely is that of raising honey bees and honey. He described in great detail the proper method of conducting it, and its results. Mr. Clapp keeps bees on a smaller scale, but has studied bees and their habits for many years.

Among the interesting details presented to the commission was the method by which the great cucumber greenhouse people of Dorchester, Massachusetts, supply the American market with hothouse cucumbers during the winter. Only a few years ago it was practically impossible to procure cucumbers in the winter except at an enormous price. Now they can be bought in large quantities at a reasonable figure.

At any time northern and western cities are not dependent upon the Florida and Georgia crop. The testimony showed that for years experiments had been conducted in the effort to raise cucumbers in the winter until finally some Yankee genius at Dorchester having read in an Australian newspaper that the Australians had succeeded in raising red clover by the introduction of English humble bees which fertilized the clover, placed a hive of honey bees in a Dorchester cucumber hot house with the result that the bees speedily fertilized the cucumber blossoms, and from that day the raising of cucumbers at Dorchester upon a large scale has flourished and formed a lucrative source of income to the people of that place.

Another interesting fact developed by the evidence was that of all the creatures known to man, the bee alone could determine the sex of its offspring. It was shown that the queen bee not only could but did determine whether the eggs she laid, frequently to the extent of 2,500 a day, would produce the feminine worker or the drone, the male bee. That well bred queens actually produced a sufficient number of drones for parental purposes, and that of the thousands of bees hatched, practically only one thousandth of one per cent were males.

Also it was shown that the reason when bees were disturbed that they poured themselves with honey, was an inherited impulse from the wild bee in the forests which constantly is disturbed by bears, raccoons, opossums, wild cats and other predatory animals, that when a colony of bees which had deposited honey in a hollow tree felt the attack of any animal, they immediately prepared to leave the tree, and to carry away with them a sufficient quantity of honey upon which they could feed until they could establish a new home somewhere else. John A. Grant and Judge Clearwater appeared for Mr. Merwin; William Grosz, assistant to the corporation counsel, represented the city.

First "Colonial Scout" Shows That Scouting is Gaining Ground Here

Now 12 Troops and 243 Boy Scouts in Ulster County Against Five Troops and 81 Scouts October 1, 1922—President Burns Outlines Year's Objectives.

The first edition of the "Colonial Scout," the official bulletin of the Ulster County Council, Boy Scouts of America, has just appeared. The bulletin is the work of Scoutmaster G. Henry Nesslage and presents a very attractive appearance throughout. It was gotten out on the Chamber of Commerce microscope.

The message on the cover is addressed to the scouts of the county and urges them to forget the Scoutmaster's first or last name and call him "Chief."

On the first page Arthur J. Burns, president of the council, outlines the objectives for the years 1922-24. If these objectives are reached, there need be no fear but that the Boy Scout organization of Ulster county will be a highly efficient organization and one which the people of the county can be proud of.

On page three of the bulletin the interesting information is given out that on October 1, 1922, there were 5 troops and 81 scouts in Ulster county whereas on February 15 of this year there were 12 troops and 243 scouts. This is an increase of 140 per cent in troops and 200 per cent in scouts.

The rest of the paper is full of information interesting to scouts and many others who are not scouts. Short items about the different troops may be found and an announcement is also made of a contest for new scouts which is to be held among the different troops.

The bulletin is enlivened throughout by original sketches taken from the pen of the scoutmaster.

This is the first bulletin of its kind ever issued in Ulster county.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

WITTY WITCH'S CALLERS

"I am so glad," said Witty Witch, "that you all decided to come to my cave this afternoon and to have hot cocoa and bread and butter and cookies."

"Of course I know you come to see me, too, but then it will be nice on a cold winter's afternoon like this to have some pleasant refreshments."

"I'm always glad to see all my friends, and I'm glad that people know now that old Witty Witch is a dear friendly old soul who loves children and animals and fairies and elves and goblins and brownies and all!"

The fairies, and brownies and elves and goblins had all come this afternoon to call on Witty Witch. Her cave was hardly big enough to hold them all but there were lots of rocks outside and many of them wanted to play games and have frolics.

"We saw so many interesting sights on our way here," said Billie Brownie. "Yes," said Witty Witch, "we saw a horse walking along the streets of the village making paths with a snow-plow."

"He was picking his way along very carefully so he wouldn't fall down or get lost in the snow! Of course he really wouldn't have done that but it was fun to see him."

"The children all laughed to see the horse walking along on the sidewalks and the horse looked rather surprised himself to be on the sidewalk, I think."

"And oh," said Billie Brownie, "we saw such big icicles. One was hanging down the side of a house and it reached halfway down the house and there was another one opposite and these two icicles were boasting of how heavy and strong and beautiful they were!"

"Such lovely winter scenes as we did see," Billie continued. "I saw a child with a new sled. The sled had been a Christmas present and the sled went rather slowly at first for it was a bit stiff."

"Then I watched the child coasting and I saw that the sled was going faster and faster each trip—getting used to it, I suppose."

"It was probably a bit shy at first," said Witty Witch, "and became more friendly and playful afterwards."

"No doubt, no doubt," grinned Billie Brownie. "And I saw two hens as I looked into a barn window to have a peep at the animals," said Effie Elf. "They were having a fine old argument as to whether brown eggs or white eggs were better."

"How they did cackle and talk about it. One hen was Mrs. White Leghorn, I believe, and she was all for the white eggs."

"The other was Mrs. Rhode Island Red Hen and she was for brown eggs. They didn't come to any decision and at the end of the cackle-chat neither agreed with the other for each was sure she was right."

"We saw such gay and merry coasting parties," said Fairy Ybab. "And last night, Witty Witch, we watched a star which was up in the sky quite properly, and over the lake nearby. It was very, very bright; brighter than the others, and it told us it had just taken a prize in brightness in the Sky School!"

"The Moon was wearing his full-dress suit and there were coasting parties on the hill. Then I peeked into houses and saw people around fires warming themselves after they had been coasting."

"I watched lots of coasting parties and what hills they did go down! Always in the center of the hills the sleds seemed to go faster and faster—how they flew, it seemed!"

"And the dark trees made beautiful shadows. Mr. Wind was clear and fine and every one's voice sounded the same way. 'Oh, last night in the moonlight and the starlight there were many coasting parties.'"

"Now we must have our refreshments," said Witty Witch, "and then it would be nice for us to have a coasting party. Hearing all about it has made me want to coast, too!"

So after they had had refreshments in Witty Witch's cave they all went coasting.

EVERYDAY GOOD THINGS.

To keep the family happy with good food, a variety, and (quite important) accomplish this with economy, is the daily task of millions of women in our country. The planning of meals, cooking and marketing, even if enjoyed, becomes at times monotonous. So often the remark is made by the housewife, "does it pay to spend so much time, energy and material on a meal and consumed within an hour?" Let us see if it is worth while—that a well-prepared, daintily served meal sent the brain worker out with energy to accomplish a hard task; perhaps it was winning a case, charging the jury, writing a poem or selling goods; whatever his work is he is better equipped in mind and body to win. The same food which does this for the brain of hand worker, builds tissue and bone, making the child sturdy and strong, laying the foundation for good citizenship. There is no inheritance of wealth or the possession of the best education which will take the place in life of robust health and a happy disposition; these are largely in the hands of the mother who plans the meals and feeds her family. So then it seems quite worth while to put time, thought, energy and the money we can afford, into good food, for it goes into countless ways to energize the world.

A good dish to use any leftover roast of beef is the following:
Spanish Meat Dish.—Into a baking dish put a layer of thinly sliced raw potatoes; over this a layer of cold roast beef cut in thin slices and a little gravy added, then a thin layer of shredded onion and a cupful of cooked tomatoes. Bake after seasoning well for 45 minutes or until the potatoes are tender. Scatter a few teaspoonfuls of cooked green peas over the top just a few minutes before taking from the oven. Other meat or fowl may be used in place of beef.

Nut Patties.—Beat one egg very light, add one cupful of chopped nuts, one-half teaspoonful of salt and drop by spoonfuls on a well-buttered sheet. Bake in a slow oven about fifteen minutes.

BIG POUGHKEEPSIE RACE
OVER THREE-MILE COURSE.
Crew Will Come From Far West—Navy Out.

Varsity crews in the Intercollegiate Rowing Association's classic at Poughkeepsie on June 28 will row three miles, the same distance at which they competed last year and in 1921. This decision was reached at an adjourned meeting of the committee by a vote of three to one. The negative vote was cast by Columbia.

The stewards decided not to hold an event for 150 pound crews but may add a fourth race to the program, a mile contest for the national interscholastic championship. Chairman Bogue was asked to look into the practicability of this scheme. The outlook for adding this race is extremely bright.

If the University of Washington beats the University of California it is almost certain that they will come to Poughkeepsie for the regatta. The Navy will not compete this year and Wisconsin is on the fence.

TAXPAYERS VOTE NO AT NEWBURGH

On High School Proposals—Board Will Now Appeal To All The Voters.

Property owners of the city of Newburgh at a special election held in that city on Thursday turned down both the proposal to raise by bond $112,000 for the purchase of the Ramsdell site on which to erect a high school, and the proposal to raise by bond $863,000 for the erection of a school on the Ramsdell site. There was a majority of 283 against the first proposal and a majority of 266 against the second proposal. The city seemed to be divided into sections on the proposition. That part of the city west of the center line of Robinson avenue voted against both propositions by more than six to one. In the other section of the city however the propositions only received a majority of a little over twenty.

One elated opponent of the propositions expressed his feelings by saying: "The West Enders downed the aristocrats."

Under the educational law were taxpayers to refuse to authorize expenditures for the schools the Board of Education has a right to make an appeal directly to all of the voters for the authority and this will be done by the Newburgh Board.

Senator Norris has had passed through the Senate a resolution providing for reference to the States of a constitutional amendment advancing the date for the inauguration of Presidents from March to January. The resolution also provides that the new Congress shall take up its duties the first Monday in January, instead of on March 4. The fate of the measure in the House is in the hands of "lame ducks," at whom it is aimed, and many believe it will die in committee there.

Great mystery surrounds the kidnapping of Sister Cecelia, N. Dame convent nun, from Frederick, Maryland. The sister declares she was drugged and taken to a house in Baltimore, from which she escaped, wearing the overcoat of one of her captors, while the man and the woman who kidnapped her were discussing a ransom. Entering an automobile, she was driven back the 50 miles to Frederick, where her condition was reported serious. Though the chauffeur was not suspected, he was temporarily taken in charge. Sheriff John Jones of Frederick is shown, with the coat in which Sister Cecelia escaped. Sister Cecelia, before she entered the convent, was Miss Marie Whalen of Pennsylvania. She is 33 years old.

These photographs show the recent parades of the National Socialists (German Fascist) in Munich, where the party met to urge all kinds of resistance to the French. Bavaria is the hotbed of the movement to oppose the French.

This photograph shows the Essex County Penitentiary, at Caldwell, New Jersey, where the four multi-millionaire La Montagne brothers—Rene, Montague, William A. and Morzan E.—have been sentenced to from two to four months' imprisonment on the charge of violating the national prohibition laws. They were among the largest distillers in America and pleaded guilty to furnishing liquor for a party at the Racquet and Tennis Club, of New York, the most exclusive club in America, of which all are members. The brothers note in the last society. Rene La Montagne is a polo player of international fame.

Huge Sums Spent on Love Nest. Many thousands of dollars were spent during the last few weeks to make a beautiful love nest for Harold P. McCormick and his bride, Ganna Walska, before they returned to New York. Mme. Walska's mansion on East Ninety-fourth street has been decorated from top to bottom, each of the 42 rooms being entirely renovated, a beautiful Japanese garden has been built in the entrance hall, six van loads of costly furniture have been trucked in and the mansion has been given a new coat of battleship gray paint.

The whole lower floor of the mansion is a dazzling display of luxurious red and sea blue draperies and throughout the mansion are scattered beautiful and priceless gifts of the former husband's and admirers of her beauty and of her voice.

United States Senators, who have to struggle along on $7,500 a year, were just tickled pink when they learned during a subcommittee investigation of the oil industry, that Mr. Rockefeller pays his hired men fairly well, with many drawing between $50,000 and $125,000 a year. In the latter class are Alfred C. Bedford, of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, and Walter C. Teagle, chairman of the board of the same concern. But Arthur Brisbane editorially "hopes the Rockefeller allow them an opportunity to make a little something on the side."

SERVICE CLASS OF CHURCH OF COMFORTER ANNIVERSARY

The "Service" (Adult Bible Class) of the Reformed Church of the Comforter held its annual meeting Wednesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barnum, 57 Foxhall avenue. The class was organized one year ago with eighteen members and has grown to a membership of forty-two. Nearly all the members were present and a most delightful evening was enjoyed by all. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Theodore Floyd; vice president, Frank Barnum; secretary, Mrs. Frank Barnum; treasurer, H. G. LeRoy; teacher, the Rev. W. F. Stowe; and assistant teacher, F. R. Wood. The rooms were very artistically decorated, suggesting that it was "Valentine's Day." After the transaction of business and the reception of several new members, a fine musical program was given by Mrs. B. W. Harden of Westfield, N. J. Mrs. Harden is a sister of the Rev. W. F. Stowe. She sang a group of songs which were greatly appreciated by all. A duet was also sung by Mrs. Harden and the Rev. Stowe.

Great credit is due the refreshment committee, Mrs. H. G. LeRoy, Mrs. Theodore Floyd and Mrs. Charles Hicks, for the splendid refreshments served. They gave the class a very pleasant surprise in bringing in a large birthday cake upon which was one lighted candle, indicating that the class had finished one year since its organization. Another surprise was the beautiful valentines served to each person as favors.

The evening was so enjoyable, with a lot of fun interspersed, and the time went so quickly, that it was midnight before the evening's festivities came to an end. During the evening it became known that one of the members was celebrating his birthday anniversary, and, of course, congratulations were in order and the wish expressed by all that he might enjoy many more birthdays.

Who says women are still deprived of equal rights? Joseph Leszynski, not only acquitted in a Detroit court that his big-headed wife spanked him when he stayed out late at night, but the judge commended her and allowed her to continue the exercise at need.

Though 76 years old, Thomas A. Edison is reported as "working 16 hours a day just as he did half a century ago." That may do for such a man as Edison, but the average citizen of 76 would do well to avoid excitement and overstrain in either work or play.

Is it demoralizing to be in the government's service? The American Security Company's record of claim for 1922 shows a decided increase in defalcations by government workers, while showing a marked decrease both in embezzlements by other employees and in burglaries.

THE PROBLEM IN THE RUHR.

Although at the outset Premier Poincaré told the French Chamber of Deputies that two or three months might elapse before there were definite results of the advance into the Ruhr, already after only one month, there is impatience in France and reports seem to indicate that M. Tardieu, with his own political fortunes in view, may employ this impatience to lead an opposition to the government. In Germany also division of sentiment is reported, as is only to be expected. Stinnes is reported to have come round and to be ready to yield, probably realizing that his commercial interests require such action, but it is said that the people who might have followed his lead in the beginning are not now in sympathy with his changed view. It begins to look as if the longer a settlement is delayed, the greater the conflict of elements and the more difficult the problem becomes.

The New York World, which strongly opposed the advance into the Ruhr at the outset, now concludes a critical article, taking a very unfavorable view of the situation, particularly so far as French interests are concerned, as follows: "As a result of the Ruhr expedition France is by way of destroying all chances of reparation. But she is also by way of gaining the power to fix her flag on the Rhine." If that is so, surely there is all the more reason for Germany to act quickly, coming to terms and agreeing to the most favorable compromise she can secure. If France has power to "fix her flag on the Rhine" and will do so if she fails to gain her avowed ends, if the Germans foresee and dread such a consummation, their divided sentiment and obstinate policy of drift and delay are but the more misguided and surprising.

GOLD DOES NOT MOLD.

Despite the fact that Great Britain and the United States have reached an agreement for the payment of the British debt to this country, British emissaries are still visiting our shores and telling us that the debt can never be paid in gold, because the United States already has most of the world's gold supply. Sir Charles Rignham is the latest "authority" to give us expert advice. "England," says he, "can never pay her debt to this country in gold, since more than half the gold in the world is in this country, where it lies in banks molding, not working."

Of course England could not pay the entire debt at once in gold, but during the 62 years she is given to settle the debt the natural flow of trade will send a constant stream of gold to London that will be sufficient to liquidate the obligation many times over. The intimation by Sir Charles that our gold is doing us no good, but is merely "molding" in the banks, is a wicked libel calculated to arouse the emotions of the uninformed.

Most of the gold that reaches this country finds its way into the United States treasury. On December 30 gold coin and bullion in the treasury amounted to $3,284,424,975.23, but that huge store of gold was not "molding" by any means. Of the total $2,198,846,000 was held as security for outstanding Federal Reserve notes, $708,130,329 was security for United States gold certificates in circulation, $187,854,945.95 was in the general fund subject to check for the running expenses of the government, $152,979,925.63 constituted the treasury's gold reserve against emergencies, and $36,614,674.65 was in the Federal Reserve gold fund, but not represented by Reserve notes in circulation. Of course the actual metallic gold is not being handed around, but every penny of it is working in the various ways mentioned. In addition to the treasury gold fund, there is approximately $500,000,000 in gold coin in the hands of the people. Some of it may be deposited in banks, but probably most of it is in actual circulation.

Can You Answer These Questions?

2. Are scorpions really poisonous?
3. Why do birds' breastbones go up in such a sharp, high edge?

Answers in Monday's Nature Notes.

Answers to Previous Questions.

1. What sort of fishes did they have in the Bible?
So far as we know, while there are many references to fishes in the Scripture, the kinds are not specified. In some of the lakes in the Jordan region there is one of the Characidae, Thilapia simonis, something on the style of a sunfish, whose name is alleged to have been given in honor of Simon Peter. Fish as food is mentioned as early as the Book of Numbers (XI, 22) and there are various allusions to fish in both Testaments, often as a basis for a figure of speech.

2. Is a pole-cat the same as a skunk?

No, though sometimes used wrongly for skunk. The pole-cat is Mustela putorius, a European of the weasel tribe, with black and white markings on the head, but its body fur is brown on the surface, with a yellowish under fur. It eats poultry and small game like rabbits, mice, etc., and has an odoriferous gland near the base of the tail, so that in various ways it does resemble the North American skunk, Mephitis mephitis.

3. How big does a purple martin measure?

Length given in the Audubon Society as 7½ inches, with wing spread of 15 to 16 inches. Represented by 8 species in temperate North America, and will vary a little in different species of even different localities.

BIG BANQUET AT FIRST DUTCH

Thursday Evening to Celebrate Washington's Birthday — Dr. Johnson and Dr. Giles to Speak.

Arrangements for the big banquet at the old First Dutch Church have been completed. The dinner will be served promptly at 6:30 next Thursday evening in the parlors of the church. Two hundred covers will be laid. It is quite fitting that the men of this historic church, with some of their friends, should honor the birth of the "Father of his Country." In the vestibule of the church is a letter to the consistory of the old church in the handwriting of General Washington commending this church for its loyalty and devotion to the cause of independence. The atmosphere is conducive such a celebration as is contemplated. As speakers, the committee have secured Dr. Charles H. Johnson, LL. D., of Albany, secretary of the State Board of Charities of the state of New York. Dr. Johnson graduated from Harvard in 1902; received the degree of Doctor of Laws in 1915; he has been deputy warden of the Connecticut State Reformatory and since 1916 has been connected with the New York State Board of Charities. He is senior warden of the grand lodge of Free Masons of the state of New York. He was sent by the United States government recently to investigate conditions in Russia.

The second speaker is the Rev. W. Warren Giles, D. D., of East Orange, New Jersey. Dr. Giles is not only a brilliant preacher, but also the most popular after dinner speaker in the Metropolitan area. With the ladies of the Henrietta Wynkoop Guild determined to make the turkey dinner superb in quality and ample in quantity, with the committee (consisting of Judges A. T. Clearwater, G. D. B. Hasbrouck, James Jenkins and the domine) procuring such speakers it looks as though the success of the banquet is assured.

ADVISE FARMERS TO CLEAN WHEAT

Cost of Transportation Greatly Increased by Presence of Much Foreign Matter.

SCREENINGS HAVE NO VALUE

Grain-Cleaning Devices Can Be Attached to Threshing Machines and Operated at Exceedingly Small Expense.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Large savings in the cost of transporting grains to terminal markets would be effected if farmers and country elevators would ship only clean wheat to market, in the opinion of Robert H. Black in charge of grain cleaning investigations for the United States Department of Agriculture.

The average carload of spring wheat received at Minneapolis during October last year contained over one and one-half tons of screenings, Mr. Black said. These screenings have no market value so that the cost of transporting the material was a total loss to the shipper. The result not only was a waste of transportation space but increased considerably the transportation costs on the good wheat.

Dockage is Large. Minnesota grain inspection records for October last year show that Minneapolis received 11,332 cars of spring wheat during that month containing an average of 4 1/2 per cent of dockage. The transportation space occupied by this foreign material in the wheat required 450 cars more than would have been required had the dockage been removed before shipment, Mr. Black said. For the shipping season up to November 21 last year nearly 650,000 bushels of dockage or foreign material in the wheat was shipped to market, the records show. During the 1920-21 crop year the quantity of dockage or foreign material in the wheat shipped to market was so great that more than 14,000 additional freight cars were required to haul the wheat than would have been necessary had the wheat been cleaned before shipment.

Mr. Black is conducting an educational campaign among the spring wheat growers looking toward the cleaning of wheat on the farms, having in operation in the field several grain-cleaning devices attached to threshing separators that can be operated at exceedingly small cost compared with the losses sustained by shippers through shipping dockage in wheat to market. Mr. Black is also arranging to conduct a grain cleaning school at Fargo for the purpose of teaching farmers effective grain cleaning methods.

Records Show Increase. Minnesota grain inspection records for the past 15 years show a marked increase in the percentage of dockage in wheat arriving at terminal markets, ranging from 2 per cent in 1903 to more than 5 per cent in 1921. On this basis the 1921 spring wheat crop contained more than 10,000,000 bushels of dockage, the transportation cost on which was a total loss to the shippers. Mr. Black states that when the cleaning is done on the farm, or at the country elevator, the cleaned wheat will bring a better price on the market, the freight on the dockage will be saved, more cars will be available for hauling wheat and the screenings will be available for feed. When finely ground the screenings can be substituted for the higher priced feeds, such as oats, corn and commercial mill feed, Mr. Black said.

Points of Resemblance. There isn't a whole lot of difference between the fellow who didn't know it was loaded and the theorist who never knows when his theory is going to explode.

KINGSTON WINS;
ALBANY LOSES

Putting Kingston Back Into First Place—Borgman and C. Husta Score 35 Points Between Them.

Contrary to all predictions Kingston ran away from Cohoes in the New York State League basketball contest at Cohoes last night, winning by a count of 19 to 21. The victory put Kingston back into first place, Albany losing to Amsterdam.

The result of the contest was a disappointment to the hundreds of Cohoes enthusiasts who had entertained wild hopes of seeing Cohoes in first place by Saturday night. Kingston went into the lead early in the contest and Cohoes never had a chance. Borgman and C. Husta were the outstanding point getters of the evening. Borgman succeeded in putting in five fields and eight fouls making a total of eight points and giving him the scoring honors for the evening. C. Husta was a close second with seven fields and three fouls making a total of seven points. Powers, at center, also made four field goals and picked up an additional two points on foul shots. Harvey played a good floor game keeping Boyle scoreless from the field while Sugarman succeeded in putting in three fields and two fouls making him high man for his team.

Kingston finished the first half on the long end of a 24 to 11 count. This led the champions increased as play progressed in the second half.

Amsterdam Defeated Albany.
Amsterdam sent Albany into second place at Amsterdam Friday night. The home team scored a 22 to 13 victory over the Senators who came to the Carpet City in first place.

The Senators, minus the services of Barnes Sedran, who was out with an injured shoulder, played Amsterdam to a standstill in the opening half, which ended 11 to 10 in Amsterdam's favor. In the second half, however, Amsterdam outplayed Albany all the way and held the Senators to two points, both made on foul shots.

Manager Hoppenstall announced after the game that Sedran would play against Cohoes at Albany tonight.

SAUGERTIES LOSES GAME BY FORFEIT

When Coach Egnor Takes His Team From Court In Last Quarter With Local High School Quinlet Heading a 31 to 16 Score—Referee Levy Unsatisfactory to Paper Town Coach.

The last league game played by the locals Friday night on the local court went to Kingston by the score of 20-0, although they really did work up a 31-16 lead over Saugerties High, the visiting team. The game progressed to the fourth quarter in the form of a fast and rough contest. When there were but five and a half minutes to go, Coach Egnor of the visiting squad decided that the referee was not giving his team a square deal and called his men off the floor.

In the opinion of the witnesses, the visiting coach had no grounds for his decision. The game was rough. Two Saugerties men and a Kingston man were dropped from the game on account of personal fouls. There were more fouls committed than escaped the eye of the official in charge, but they were equally divided between the two teams. Moreover, the referee was the choice of Mr. Egnor, who, as vice-president of the Central Hudson Valley League, at the beginning of the season named the men who were to take charge of the various games. Mike Paten of Poughkeepsie, Chester Hall of Kingston and Mr. Levy of Newburgh, and Mr. Hughes of Saugerties were each to have certain games in which the teams representing their cities had to part. Mr. Hughes was dropped because of a failure to get a certificate from the Albany Central Board, but up to Friday night there were no objections made formally about Mr. Levy, although other games of which he had charge were rough, because he was thought to be fair even though put as strict as the other men. Somehow, however, the refereeing of this last game did not suit, and the worst consequences for the name of the sport were the result. The Kingston authorities were perfectly satisfied, for while they knew many fouls escaped his attention, they admitted that his decisions were square to both sides, neither getting away with more than the other. Coach Egnor holds nothing against the local school, and departed the best of friends with the local coach; but he said he believed he did the wisest thing in taking his team off when he believed the officiating was unsatisfactory.

The start of the game looked as though the performance in Saugerties of three weeks ago was to be repeated, for Saugerties took the lead at the start and kept it all through the first quarter, which ended 6-4 in their favor. In the second half the locals began to show signs of life and tallied fifteen points for their first half, as opposed to the ten of the visitors. In the third quarter the runaway started, and the period ended with Kingston in the lead, 26-16. Kingston got five more points in the fourth, and was just sailing right when a foul was called on Saugerties man that proved the final decision of the game. Coach Egnor called for his men just as Corrigan took his position at the foul line. Whether it was to be sociable or whether nervousness was at fault, Corrigan missed both tries awarded him on account of the foul. The Saugerties team remained on the floor for over a minute after their coach walked out, until another member of the squad came back to get them. As soon as they had left the floor, Referee Bill Levy blew his whistle and announced that the game was awarded to Kingston by the forfeit score, 2-0.

Schmidt was high man with six fields to his credit, while Rob Corrigan followed with ten points, eight fouls and one field. Schmidt and Corrigan both did some wonderful shooting, the former breaking loose from a jam to drop in three two-pointers one handed. Anderson played his usual fast game, being everywhere on the court just when needed. McLane stuck to his post like ivy to a wall. Anderson played throughout the game with but one personal foul against him, and Rob Corrigan held a similar record for his three and a half quarters. Trenholm of Saugerties was the only visiting man who played a full quarter without collecting more than one.

Wemple made the most fields for the visitors, but Trenholm eased eight out of fifteen tries from the complimentary line. Thornton got the other two points on a field.

SCHOOL BASEBALL
DATES ANNOUNCED

The Poughkeepsie Eagle News says:

A partial list of the activities of the newly organized Central Hudson Valley Interscholastic League for the coming summer season was announced Wednesday by the league officials. The list is not complete as yet, but includes part of the baseball schedule and the Poughkeepsie track meet. The schedule:

April 28—Kingston at Poughkeepsie.
May 5—Kingston at Middletown.
May 12—Port Jervis at Kingston.
May 19—Track meet at Poughkeepsie.

June 16—Newburgh at Kingston. The information came from Kingston, Wednesday, and the local school has not as yet received any official notice of the schedule. When Mr. Buley of Kingston, was asked for added data on the schedule, he said that they were not fully determined as yet, but would be announced in a few days.

League teams will engage in but one contest with each other instead of the usual two. This will affect only baseball and football, however, basketball remaining as before.

Games will alternate between cities. The league will form a sort of revolving wheel, that is, each team will meet the same opponent one week earlier in following seasons. It is believed this is the most equitable arrangement of schedules.

K. H. S. SECONDS
WIN CONTEST

In a preliminary game at the high school court Friday night the K. H. S. seconds defeated the "Combination Five" by a score of 22-18. The "Combination Five" is a team composed of students and one member of the faculty. These boys have been playing on different teams in the H-Y League, but came together to furnish the opposition for the seconds, who were planning to play the Ellenville Midgets. The announcement that Ellenville was to play was due to an error in the local records. This team will play next week Friday.

The "Combination Five" took the lead at the start, but its lead was overcome when the Second's pass-work began to take effect, and Merine got in form, holding his own from the foul line, caging eight out of ten tries.

The game was fast throughout, with the Combination Five getting ahead every once in a while to make it interesting. Mr. Brown made his debut as a referee and made good at it, allowing a fast contest.

The two teams were given much encouragement by the spectators.

THE WISDOM OF THE ANCIENT JEWISH LAWS

Recalled In Address by Rabbi Kaplan.

"The Jurisprudence of Israel's Ancient Commonwealth" formed the subject of an interesting lecture at Temple Emanuel last evening by Dr. Bernard M. Kaplan. The rabbi said there were less capital punishment offenses on the statutes of ancient Israel than in England in the time of Blackstone. Dr. Kaplan said that circumstantial evidence was not considered. The rabbi cited cases of miscarriage of justice as a result of circumstantial evidence. Ignorance of the law was taken as an excuse in cases of malum prohibitum though not in cases of malum in se where the offense is wrong in itself. In cases of theft in modern law, if the stolen goods cannot be recovered, the person who was robbed not only is the loser of his property, but as taxpayer has to help support the thief during his prison term. In ancient Israel, the culprit was made to work and his earnings were turned over to the one who was robbed till proper restitution was made. Dr. Kaplan quoted the late queen Carmen Sylva who in her "memoirs" says that there would be more justice in the world if more of the old wise Jewish laws were adopted.

LITTLE TALKS ON THRIFT

by S. W. STRAUS, President, American Society for Thrift.

It is not always from the great and successful alone that we hear words of eternal truth. The story is told of an obscure young man who, upon finishing college, obtained an engineering position with a railroad in Northern Canada. An accident caused his death, and among his effects was found a carefully prepared plan of life. Owing to limited space, quotation of the full text of the young man's manuscript cannot be made here, but the following sentences carry a lesson of such value that they should be given wide dissemination.

"To believe that success lies within myself, in my own brain, my own courage and determination. To expect difficulties and to force my way through them; to turn hard experience into capital for future struggles."

And then at another place we find the following:
"To keep my future unengaged with debts; to save as much as I can. To cut out expensive amusements until I can afford them. To steer clear of dissipation, and guard my health of body and peace of mind as most precious store in trade."

It would be well if every young man could map out such a sensible plan of conduct and adhere to it unwaveringly. There could be no failure when such a creed prevailed.

Self-reliance, courage, determination, economy of money and health, and self-respect. These are the qualities any young man must have if he accomplishes real success.

And, when we analyze them we find they are the embodiment of true, constructive thrift.

Mrs. Thomas G. Winter

Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, president of the American Federation of Women's Clubs, who started congress by asserting she had been offered $250,000 to help pass a bill through congress, later explained her home in Minneapolis, Minnesota, that the letter which contained the offer did not refer specifically to lobbying in Washington, rather to using the influence of the Federation "to put over a big affair through the women voters of the country."
